

The Whittler

By Lorenzo Caricchio

He whittles

And the shavings grow around his feet

Miniatures of life from the parings of his knife

Beginnings and ends meet

He whittles

With his infinitely sharp blade

And the shavings grow around his feet

The piece of wood that has been unmade.